HIGHLIGHTS (NUMBERS AS ON THE 3D MAP)

- 1 Dragon Stairway
A twin flight of steps from the entrance esplanade up to the Hypostyle Room, with the emblem of Catalonia and, further up, the tile-shard mosaic dragon, or salamander.
- 2 Hypostyle Room
Planned as the market of the estate: 86 fluted columns hold up Nature Square, under small domes with tile-shard mosaics by Josep Maria Jujol.
- 3 Nature Square
The large esplanade at the centre of the park, partly dug into the rock and partly on top of the Hypostyle Room, edged by Jujol's undulating tile-shard bench.
- 4 Porter's Lodge
One of the two entrance pavilions on Carrer d'Olot, designed by Gaudí as the gatekeeper's house; it now holds an exhibition of the Barcelona History Museum (MUHBA).
- 5 Laundry Room Portico
A wave-shaped portico of unworked stone on slanting columns; one column is carved as a washerwoman, which gives it its name.
- 6 Austria Gardens
Gardens on land first meant for building plots and later used as a municipal plant nursery, named after a gift of trees from Austria in 1977.
- 7 Gaudí House Museum
The house where Gaudí lived until 1925, a year before his death; the park ticket does not include it.
